DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 12-14 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on May 2, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mathauser.

The patent to Mathauser shows a fishing rod with a strike sensor 410 as shown in Fig. 10 and a housing 400. In reference to claim 11, Mathauser shows a strain gauge sensor 410 having an electrical characteristic that varies as the sensor flexes.

Mathauser shows means 412 for attaching the sensor to a fishing rod 12". Noting the "means for" language in claim 1, the claims have been given their broadest reasonable interpretation and 112, 6th paragraph has not been invoked. Mathauser shows an alarm device 102' and an electrical circuit 116 in Figs. 6-9 in electrical connection with the sensor. The circuit defines a first threshold and has an output that is activated when the electrical characteristic exceeds the first threshold as disclosed in column 8, lines 4-19.

Art Unit: 3643

The output being in electrical connection with an alarm signaling device 76', 108'.

Mathauser shows means for adjusting 88' the first threshold. Mathauser shows an electrical power source 96. Mathauser shows the alarm signaling device, the electrical circuit, the threshold adjusting means contained within the housing. Inherently, the electrical power source is also contained in the housing. Mathauser does not show the sensor being contained in the housing, but connected to the housing by cable 408.

However, it would have been obvious to mount the sensor in the housing since merely the rearrangement of parts is contemplated and the function is the same. See In re Japikse. 86 USPQ 70.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-3, 7-10 allowed.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed November 14, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments have been addressed in the above rejection.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 3643

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
